CITY ITEMS.

To the Ladies:

Through the liberality of the public, I take pleasure in saying to my patrons that my business has increased to such an extent that I have found it necessary to enlarge my Dress and Cloak-making departments to meet the demands of my customers. In returning my sincere thanks for the favors of the past, I respectfully beg leave to inform the Ladies that I am now fully prepared to meet all orders promptly, and warrant a neat and comfortable fit. The working department is conducted by an accomplished and experienced tailor, who was, for a number of years, superintendent in the mammoth house of Deidrich & Co., the largest ladies' dress-making establishment in Berlin, Prussia. Ladies can rest assured, on leaving their orders, that they will be promptly filled, and no pains will be spared to give entire satisfaction.

My stock of goods for the spring and summer trade is very large, and comprises all the latest American and European styles. I have on hand a large assortment of file lace and embroidery, which I desire to close out, in order to devote my whole attention to cloak and dress making. They will be sold at very low prices.

Fast Time—Your Fare Only $22 00 to New York.

The Jeffersonville railroad has now three direct connections daily for New York, the 5 A. M. train running through, thirty-nine miles to the 12th, 15th, 18th, 21st, and 24th, and a half hours, and the 9:30 A. M. train going through in thirty-eight hours and fifty minutes. These are fast trains, and give to the traveling public an advantage they never had before. Sleeping cars are attached to trains leaving Indianapolis that run through to Dennisville, on the Columbus and Pittsburgh route, and to Alliances, on the Crestline and Indiana, and to Cleveland on the Lake-shore route.

The trains from the South make close connection with the 5 A. M. and 15th A. M. trains. Remember the fare is only $22 00. Baggage checked through.

OUR AGENTS.

The CONSTITUTION VINDICATED!!—THE PRESIDENT ACQUITTED!

No other country can lay claim to so big a "footprint" on the sands of time," during the last week—and we might well say, months or years—our own! The President of the United States has been acquitted of the charges meritoriously trumped up against him in the interests of a mere faction who know not what is really for their own good. But the Constitution has been vindicated—and this is the soul of the triumph! The Senate, by its verdict, has decreed that the predominating features of that form of government adopted by our fathers as promising most for the liberty of the people and the virtue and safety of mankind, shall be maintained—we hope perpetually! The independence of the executive department of the government has been guaranteed—we hope for all time—against the machinations of an accidental partisan Congress! The institutions distinctively American, are vindicated in the face of the world! The example of the Puritans of England and the Jacobins of France, have been repudiated!

As will be seen in our dispatches, the Senate decided to begin "at the wrong end first!" They voted upon the eleventh article, as a test. They were satisfied with the test—and contumaciously adjourned to the 29th. They will have enough trouble at Chicago, and then forward, to prevent their ever touching the case again! America begins to look up from the disgraces in which it has been floundering, for lo! these many years!

THE QUEEN AND THE COMMONS.

The reply of the Queen, on Tuesday last, to the address voted to the crown as the result of the adoption of Mr. Gladstone's resolutions, was worthy of the good sense which has ever characterized her public and private conduct. She says that, "relying on the wisdom of her Majesty, she desires that her interest in the temporaries of the Irish Church will not in any way prevent Parliamentary legislation on the subject." This ought to be satisfactory to the Liberals, who were beginning to suspect her Majesty was going to throw the crown into the scale against them. And by the utterances of these simple words, Queen Victoria, as sovereign, gracefully accedes to the voice of Parliament, while as head of the Church she acknowledges that temporaries do not constitute religion.

Considering the apparently embarrassing situation, the prompt and straightforward course of her Majesty must be an immense relief to the nation. In harmony with her decision, steps will be immediately taken to suspend for the present the making of appointments in the Irish Church by the crown. The wisdom of the choice of time to study the requirements of justice and conflicting interests is as palpable as that delay will not prevent the final consummation of the relief of the Irish from the oppression of an enforced Church system. By this movement the Tories are retained in power until an appeal to the constituencies shall be taken; and meantime the method of that appeal can be arranged by Disraeli. The Queen recognizes the inevitable necessity of the step, but evidently prefers her own counselors for the guidance of its execution. Mr. Gladstone shows himself too much of a patriot to be unreasonably recalcitrant.

AN ANTI-POPERY RIOT.

A small riot at Ashton-under-Lyne in England has been dignified into one of a religious-political origin. Certainly but for the wisdom of the Queen, some remarks of Disraeli would have helped to fan the flames of religious intolerance and persecution, and riots of that nature would have been inevitable all over England. The tide however seems to be stayed by that wisdom which has distinguished British statesmanship for two hundred years. The evidence, as far as received, does not prove that the riot had a religious origin, but only that an effort was made to give it that character. It must be remembered that the town of Ashton-under-Lyne, is a great center of cotton, woolen and gingham clothes, six and a half miles from Manchester; and it was rather a strike among the operatives, so many of whom are out of employment, than anything else.

NAPOLEON AND EUGENIE IN ORLEANS.

The Emperor of France has always shown singular wisdom in finding the pulse of his people and responding to its throbs. To us as much as anything else is he indebted for his quiet and prosperous reign. Causes of disaffection no sooner sprang up anywhere, than some kind and wise word or act quieted the rising fever. He has ways of his own for taming "appeals to the people," and he does it with as much frequency as representatives of what we consider more "popular" governments.

Napoleon and Eugenie have lately taken a "pleasure excursion" to Orleans, with marked effect in contributing to the gratification of its inhabitants. But he should die or abdicate, his staff and Brigadier General Sidney Burdett, and all the officers and men of his command under their respective commands.

Resolved, That we extend an especial invitation to Major General George H. Thomas, and his staff, and Brigadier General Sidney Burdett, and all the officers and men of his command under their respective commands.

PROSPECTUS.

The Daily Democrat by Mail—Only Six Dollars a Year, or Sixty Cents a Month, always in Advance—A Paper Every Day, Sundays Included, the Year Round.

In time of excitement, of work, of lightning and of storm, the thirst for news has become important, for all the news that can be got and rendered portable from every source. Even in days of most excitement few lay down their papers without a regret that they had not been more to tell and more to read. The telegraphic dispatches profess to elaborate and monopolize now nearly all the news. Every paper turns instinctively to them in first resort, and, as far as I am aware, have got to resorting to the speculative and the probable, and often occupy space without satisfying the reader or leaving room in the papers for that which all would like to read. Sifting, condensation and a careful, succinct statement of all that is real "the news" has become the necessity for successful journalism.

The proprietors of the Louisville Daily Democra have determined, at immense cost, to supply this natural demand, and to inaugurate in Louisville a journalistic enterprise which has been most successful in the Eastern cities, and which cannot fail to promote the interests of our citizens and the reputation of our city.

They propose, with the aid of most newspapermen, to publish a series of episodes in Pazzo's campaigns, is stationed opposite the chief entrance to that magnifico by a tightly strained rope passed up the center aisle, at about seven feet from the floor.
